SMITH GETS 60 DAYS, NO ANIMALS

BY PHYLLIS McLAUGHLIN
Special to The Local

Despite a deal with the Commonwealth's Attorney, Terri L. Smith will not regain ownership of the two dogs and two horses she'd asked for in exchange for a guilty plea to one count of second-degree cruelty to animals. The decision by Henry District Court Judge Diana Wheeler came as part of a more than three-hour long hearing Monday that included emotional testimony from Smith's friends and family, as well as individuals who fostered some of the animals seized in the December raid. Smith, 51, of Campbellsburg, originally was charged with 218 counts of second-degree cruelty, a Class A misdemeanor that carries a penalty of up to a year in jail after Henry County Animal Control and law enforcement officials confiscated 240 animals – including more than 100 dogs, nine horses, 54 rabbits and several cats and dozens of smaller animals, from the site during a Dec. 12 raid of the Allyson Lane property she shared with her husband, Kenneth Smith, 71. Kenneth Smith, who faced the same charges, committed suicide on the property shortly after post-

Carnal gets farm to table lesson

BY BRAD BOWMAN

William Carnal never won anything big. He couldn't believe it when his art teacher Jessica Page told him he won first place in the first Kentucky Farm to School Art Contest. The theme was "Let's grow healthy the Kentucky Proud way!" Carnal, 10, of Lacie received $50 for first place in the elementary school division. He competed with elementary students in 85 participating school districts for the contest. Carnal said his family lives next to a farm that has cows, ducks, goats and chickens and that's where his inspiration came from. Animals constantly fascinate him. "I am obsessed with animals," Carnal said. "I want to be a zoologist one day. I think it is amazing how the crops and animals end up on our plates."

Carnal's picture captured the essence of Kentucky Proud's theme, according to Tina Garland, the Department of Agriculture's Farm to School Coordinator. "His artwork embodies what we want kids to understand," Garland said. "Most kids are three generations removed from the farm. We want them to understand chicken doesn't come in the shape of a circle or milk doesn't come from the grocery store but a cow. We have forgotten the importance of farmers in our communities." Garland connects food service directors in participating school districts with Kentucky Proud producers throughout the state. Garlands Farm to School Program orchestrates a cheaper and healthier food alternative for school lunches while opening new opportunities for Kentucky Farmers.

City fed up with poor service from WiFi company

BY JONNA SPELBRING PRIESTER

Get your stuff and get out. That's the message Campbellsburg Mayor Rex Morgan would like to deliver to PoweredOn owner Brent Graves. Campbellsburg hired Graves in 2011 to set up a WiFi network for city residents that would be delivered at no cost to the residents. But, one year later, the network has coverage issues, and Graves did not follow through on a promise he made to the council in March to address the problems. During the March city council meeting, Graves vowed that he would, at no charge, do whatever necessary to improve the signal from the primary router to the antenna at City Hall. He also promised to rename the antennas so residents would more easily identify them. Finally, Graves said he would repair the third antenna near councilman Jason Stanley's home. He also suggested the city look at increasing its bandwidth through Insight. At the meeting, Morgan asked Graves to return to the April meeting, with the issues resolved. Monday night, Morgan told the council nothing had been done. "Unless somebody knows something I don't, we haven't seen hide nor hair of him since the last meeting," he said. Morgan, clearly, was fed up. "It's up to (the council) to vote, but the position we're at right now, I am prepared to have (City Attorney) Bill (Brammell) send him a notice and explain to him exactly what we expect," he said. "I'm in the frame of mind that I would like for the equipment to be removed and for him to be required to pay the city back."

Stanley suggested contacting another business that does similar work, as he would like to achieve the goal of providing WiFi to the city's residents. He also suggested that such a business might be able to use the existing equipment. Morgan said he supported the idea, but wanted to make sure the city was reimbursed for what it had paid to Graves. "Unless he reimburses that money, we've lost in this deal," he said. Morgan also expressed doubt that while Graves was charging the city only for equipment, that the equipment

Passing the budget is job No. 1

During even-year legislative sessions, no other bill gets more attention than the budget, which is understandable, because no other bill directs so many of the General Assembly's priorities.

Even so, that doesn't undercut the importance of other legislation also set to become law, and as my colleagues and I prepare to wrap up the 2012 Regular Session this coming Thursday, there are more than a few of these bills that deserve mention.

Several, for example, will improve public safety, with two of the more prominent tackling the deadly rise of synthetic drugs and meth.

To cut back on the former, the House and Senate agreed to broaden the definition of these drugs, so that it will be much tougher for underground chemists to skirt the law by tweaking the drug's formula. This bill will also crack down on those selling these poisons

RICK rand
State Representative

— often referred to as bath salts or synthetic marijuana — with potential penalties ranging from prison to forfeiture of their property. Together, this twin approach should give serious pause to any reputable store owner considering getting into this shady market.

The legislature's plan to limit meth, meanwhile, is designed to keep pseudoephedrine out of the hands of those that manufacture the drug while not hindering law-abiding citizens who depend on this medicine, especially during allergy season.

In this case, those purchasing without a prescription will be limited to 7.2 grams of pseudoephedrine a month and up to 24 grams a year. A standard box with 48 pills — each having a 30 milligram dosage — amounts to 1.44 grams, meaning families could still buy five of these boxes a month. It's crucial to note that this bill only applies to tablets; it does not affect gel tabs or liquid forms of pseudoephedrine, both of which are much tougher to use in manufacturing meth.

The hope, of course, is that we can stop the dramatic rise in labs that have gotten smaller and more portable in recent years. They're extremely toxic as well as fire hazards, and they can cost thousands of dollars to clean up.

Another problem that is also costing us financially is the growing number of copper thefts. There have been numerous stories of air conditioners and other equipment being vandalized for the valuable metal they have inside.

Now, however, these thieves will find it much more difficult to turn their stolen goods into quick cash. Recycling centers will be limited in making these types of purchases, and payment will need to be made by check. These centers will also be required to register with the state.

In economic development, there were two bills to pass that hold a lot of potential for Kentucky. The first of those is noteworthy because it will help our business community avoid losing a federal tax credit worth as much as $600 million. This credit was at-risk if we didn't come up with a plan to pay off the interest on the federal money the unemployment insurance fund had to borrow to maintain benefits during the recession. Obviously, we could not afford to let that credit be dropped.

The other bill, meanwhile, will give Toyota,

GM, North American Stainless and several other large auto parts companies the same opportunity to take advantage of the tax-incentive package that the legislature gave in 2007 to Ford, which then invested more than $1 billion and hired several thousand new employees at its Louisville operations. The other companies will have to invest at least $100 million to qualify, but the hope is this new law will give them another reason to take this step.

For our veterans and those still serving our country, the General Assembly passed several bills that will help them or honor their service. That includes setting up an adoption-assistance financial program for those in the National Guard — which could give them between $3,000 to $5,000 from the military family assistance trust fund — to laying the groundwork for a new memorial to honor those fallen Kentucky soldiers who have died in Iraq and Afghanistan. Drivers licenses will also now have a veterans designation, making it easy for these men and women to prove their service when needed.

Next week, I will detail what occurs on Thursday this week, which is when the General Assembly will consider any potential vetoes while also hopefully adopting several other bills. Those include efforts targeting prescription drug abuse and making it easier for students in coal-producing counties to obtain their four-year college degree.

In the meantime, don't hesitate to continue letting me know your views on state government. My address is Room 366B, Capitol Annex, 702 Capitol Avenue, Frankfort, KY 40601.

You can also leave a message for me or for any legislator at 800-372-7181. For those with a hearing impairment, the number is 800-896-0305.

I hope to hear from you soon.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Thanks for participation in STAR program

On Dec. 12, 2011, a group of our Henry County Youth Coalition teens presented the Eminence City Council with a request to add an amendment to our existing Ordinance. The council at that time decided to revisit our Alcohol Beverage ordinance.

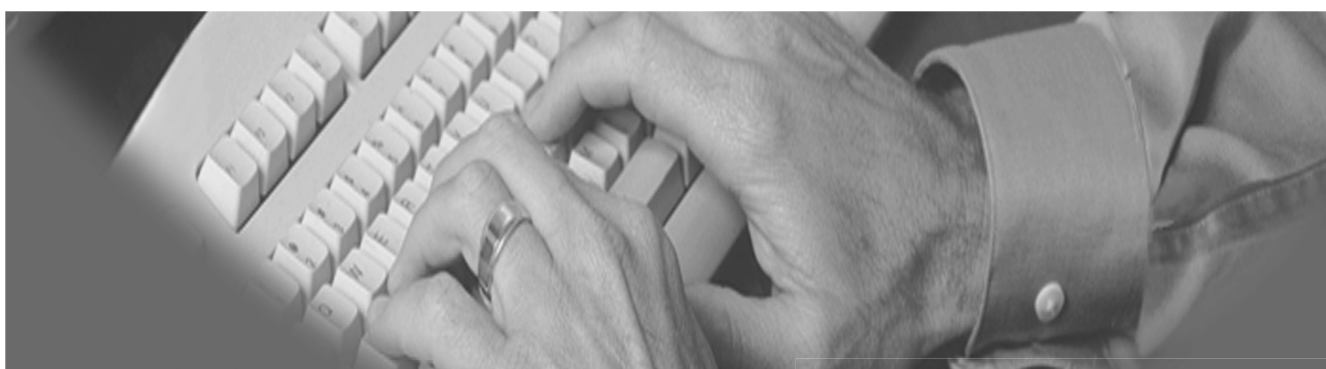

Through discussion and a consensus, the city council changed the existing ordinance to include mandatory responsible beverage service training for all businesses serving alcohol by the drink or package. These businesses were able to receive a grant, lowering the cost of $35 per employee to $10 each. The STAR "Server Training in Alcohol Regulation" is a 4-hour, in-depth training class and certification lasts for three years. Many of our local business owners and employees participated in the Star classes, and as the ABC representative for the Eminence area, I attended as well.

I would like to thank all of the businesses of Eminence and Henry County that participated in the program, the ASAP Board, but mostly The Henry County Youth Coalition for their dedication and research. You are an inspiration and have set such an amazing example for other youth in our county and state. Congratulations!

On March 19, Terri Smith waived her right to a jury trial and agreed to plead guilty to one count of second-degree cruelty in exchange for the return of four specific animals that had been removed.

During Smith's sentencing on Monday, April 16, Judge Diana E. Wheeler accepted Henry County Attorney Virginia Harrod's recommendation that Smith serve 60 days of a 365-day jail sentence, with the balance of the jail time to be conditionally discharged for two years. That means Smith must not violate any of the court's conditions or she will face serving the full year behind bars.

Wheeler also accepted the Commonwealth's recommendation that Smith pay $9,467.17 in restitution to Henry County Animal Control for veterinary and other costs associated with caring for the seized animals.

Wheeler, however, declined Harrod's recommendation to return to Smith two dogs – one a female Springer spaniel that Smith said was chosen for her by her deceased mother – and two horses, one of which is a pregnant female.

"This is an unusual sentencing for me, because generally I have victims that can speak," and the animals taken from Smith's property "can't speak for themselves," Wheeler said to Smith before pronouncing the sentence.

Wheeler said that while 217 of the charges were merged into one count, she could not ignore what she called the "totality" of the case.

"Based upon the evidence presented to me and the fact that I can't begin to take light of the numerous counts merged" and Smith's own admission to the court that she had been "overwhelmed" by the number of animals she had on her property, Wheeler denied that portion of the Commonwealth's recommendations.

"I have concerns. ... You have a huge financial situation to contend with, and not taking care of animals is not cheap," Wheeler told Smith. "Based upon the medical issues you are dealing with, and the mental situation of dealing with the loss of your husband and animals, and based upon evidence presented to me, and the fact that I can't take light of the numerous counts [of cruelty] merged, I am not going to accept the recommendation."

Wheeler told Smith that, after her two years' conditional discharge and perhaps after receiving training in the proper care of animals, Smith may, legally, be able to have another pet in the future.

"I don't think it's appropriate at this time," Wheeler said.

Emotional testimony from both sides

Wheeler's decision followed emotional testimony from people speaking up for Smith and from people who have been caring for the animals since the December raid.

Two friends, Tonya Mason

"This is an unusual sentencing for me, because generally I have victims that can speak."

District Court Judge Diana E. Wheeler

PHYLLIS McLAUGHLIN

and Randy Ricketts, and Smith's brother, Franklin Lee, testified that Smith is an animal lover who's inability to say no to helping animals in need resulted in an overwhelming situation.

Mason told the judge that Smith had cleaned up the trailer and outbuildings on the Allyson Lane property where she and her husband had lived and kept the animals, and was preparing to care for the four animals she wanted back.

"Losing her husband and most of her animals, I think she's been through enough. I'm surprised she's still here," Mason said, explaining to the judge that Smith has been suffering from medical issues in the past few months. Mason insisted that, despite those health issues, Smith would be capable of taking care of the four animals she wanted back. "That's hardly anything to take care of" compared to the 130-plus dogs and other animals that were among the 240 creatures removed from the property.

Lee stated that his sister became overwhelmed because she had rescued the dogs that were on her property. He said she simply couldn't say no to animals in need and that many of the dogs and horses on her property came to her from people who could not or would not care for the animals themselves.

"I helped her at her booth at the flea market [where Smith sold animals]," he said. "She goes out of her way to make sure homeless pets are given homes. She placed way more animals than she ever had on her property."

He testified that Smith had worked for veterinarians "for most of her adult life" and knows how to care for animals, and blamed their apparent lack of proper care at the time of the raid on a tenant who allegedly had agreed to care for the animals in exchange for a place to live.

"The care was part of the rent and was not provided," he said.

Mason, Ricketts and Lee all stated they would be willing and able to help Smith care for her animals, if she got them back.

Fighting back tears, however, Jodie Judy of Henry County, pleaded with Wheeler not to return any animals to Smith, particularly the Springer spaniel that her family has been fostering since two days after the raid.

The dog, named "Moto" by their three young sons, "has become our life. She simply makes our life complete," Judy said, adding that the dog is completely devoted to her husband, Steve, and that the family has paid for the dog's care almost since the beginning. The Judys also are fostering a Yorkshire terrier taken from Smith, which was not included in the plea deal.

Moto is "an awesome dog. I ask the court, please don't take this dog from our home. I have not asked for one cent from the shelter. We're not asking for anything; we're just asking to keep this dog," Judy said.

Jerry Scott, a dispatcher with the Kentucky State Police and neighbor of the Smiths, told Wheeler she was at the scene during the raid. "It was a nightmare," she said, describing the overpowering smell in the buildings the dogs were kept in. "They were crammed in cages, on top of each other, and several were in crates together. ... My concern is for the animals. I can't picture anyone taking them out of the conditions they were in ... putting them into loving homes, then giving them back to her."

Eight members of Carroll County Animal Support in Carrollton, one of the many nonprofit groups that have taken Smith's animals into foster care, attended the sentencing and two testified, seeking to prevent Smith from getting any animals back.

CCAS member Sherry Stamper told Wheeler that the dog she is fostering, which she named Zoe, is a female bull mastiff that weighed about 40 pounds in December and now weighs 85 pounds – the low end of the breed's normal weight range.

Stamper said the dog was covered with a yeast infection that also had gotten into its ears, rendering it temporarily deaf. After months of treatment, Zoe is now recovering but still needs medical treatment for a prolapsed uterus.

While Zoe is not one of the dogs Smith requested, Stamper said: "I would prefer [Zoe] be euthanized than go back to [Smith]."

George Carter, the Louisville lawyer representing Smith, told Wheeler that the dog had been in worse condition when his client took her in back in May

CCAS Executive Director Tammie Crawford, who is fostering seven of Smith's dogs, told Wheeler that she is a professional dog groomer and is a former breeder, and has been rescuing dogs from Carroll County's shelter since co-founding the animal welfare group in 2003.

"In my opinion, those dogs were there to make money. I rescue. I don't get paid for it," Crawford said. "In my opinion, this was not a rescue [operation]. We, as a rescue, don't set up in a flea market [to sell animals]. We require home visits, adoption applications, veterinary care, and we make sure our dogs are altered before they leave [for their adoptive homes]. None of these dogs were altered, and some were pregnant."

Suzanne Shulte, who works with the Oldham County Humane Society and is nearly finished earning a degree as a veterinary technician, told Wheeler that she has been caring for nine cats taken from the property during the raid.

The animals, all of which lived outside on the property, have all been treated for severe upper-respiratory infections and coccidia, a parasite that attacks the intestinal system and causes diarrhea, she said. "In my medical opinion, I don't think she should get any animals back."

Following her sentencing, Smith, who had sobbed when told she could not have her animals back, thanked the Judys for taking such good care of the spaniel. Leaning over the rail in the courtroom to speak to the couple, she said, "I'm not trying to take the dog away from you guys. I'm just trying to get a piece of my life back. ... That dog means the world to me. That animal was my life."

Dan Flinkfelt, animal control officer for Henry and Trimble counties, was pleased that Smith would not have any animals back.

"Today, we took a stand here in Henry County against animal cruelty," he said, standing outside the Henry County courthouse in New Castle. "We spoke up for the voiceless, and we were able to win and prove our case."

Flinkfelt said he would contact all of the foster homes and rescues caring for the animals involved in the case "to make arrangements to get them all adopted out."

He thanked the Henry County Sheriff's Office, the Kentucky State Police, his own staff and "the hundreds of volunteers and thousands of donors" who had helped the shelter manage the overwhelming number of animals after they were seized. "I can't name them all, but I want to say thank you from the bottom of my heart."

Smith seeking home
incarceration

Smith's next court appearance was set for May 14. Smith is requesting to serve her time in home incarceration rather than at Carroll County Regional Detention Center, claiming that her health issues are too severe and her life would be at risk if she were jailed. Home incarceration would mean she would be free to live on her property, but would be forced to wear an ankle bracelet that would ensure she would not leave the property unauthorized.

Wheeler told Smith to bring a letter from her physician stating that her health is too poor to serve time in jail and reminded her that, if her request is approved, Smith would be confined to her home for twice as long – 120 days, rather than the 60 days she would spend in jail.

viable market for farmers. Growing Kentucky Proud means we are growing and supporting Kentucky's agriculture while providing nutrition to our children," Garland said. "Lots of things sold at the grocery store are grown outside the U.S. for longevity and not taste. This (the program) also reduces our carbon foot print."

As an incentive for participation, there is a rewards program for food directors similar to the one Kentucky Proud offers to restaurants.

"Most food directors can save up 14 to 16 percent," Garland said. "By saving their receipts and turning them into us, they can reduce their costs. A food director in Bowling Green cuts costs from $26 on a bushel of apples to $21.66 by using a participating producer."

Garland will release a guide in June with the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension.

"The guide will be written in easy to understand language for farmers, the schools and the community," Garland said.

Garland said that providing curriculum for farm to school guidelines in simple language will make it easier for food service directors who are already overwhelmed.

Sydney Rothenburger, Food Services Director for Henry Public Schools, buys produce at the Capstone Produce seasonal auctions where 250 farmers participate. To follow purchasing rules by the Department of Education, food directors must receive three bids before making any purchases.

"Procurement can be an issue," Rothenburger said. "I can easily get three bids on a product at the auction site, but you can't always get three bids with other things you need — it is a process."

Rothenburger also buys apples from Henry County farmer Paul Tokosh. Finding nutritional food for Henry County School isn't as much of a challenge as distribution.

"There is a great distance in between schools within the county," Rothenburger said. "It is not easy to find producers that will deliver to all the schools in the county. It may be one location but not all companies want to go that long of a distance."

Thursday Rothenburger worked in the Campbellsburg Elementary cafeteria with Cafeteria Manager Donna Paris and her staff, Carnal, and Chef Jim Whaley.

"We need to support our farmers, and given the guidelines by the government it can be hard," Paris said.

Paris and her staff feed an average of 300 children a day and do catering events. Thursday they served orange and teriyaki chicken with roasted vegetables, pineapples and whole grain brown rice. Following the new nutritional guidelines set by the Department of Education and making an attractive meal for children, Whaley accepts the challenge as a necessity.

"The larger picture here is to improve the school's profile with better nutritious food," Whaley said. "Farm to School also keeps dollars circulating in the local economy. We are working in the context of fresh fruit and vegetables, and less with processed foods."

Garland brought Whaley on board for the program to rework school menus and recipes utilizing fresh products and healthier cooking techniques.

Whaley reformulates recipes to lower sodium and sugar in public school lunches. He has worked with Jefferson County Public Schools to do the same and with about 40 restaurants in Louisville. Henry County is the third district he has visited so far.

"Using international type dishes, like this chicken teriyaki, with whole grain brown rice we can emphasize more legumes, leafy green vegetables and we know we need to bring these fresh fruit and vegetables in for our budget and nutritional guidelines," Whaley said.

Whaley showed the staff

how to blanch vegetables and dry roast in combination ovens, which are common in public school kitchens.

"We are looking for ways to improve the food without additional costs in ingredients or labor," Whaley said.

Carnal donned a hairnet Thursday and worked beside Whaley and the Campbellsburg staff to fix lunch for the elementary students. Although chicken nuggets are his favorite, Carnal tasted the dish and nodded with approval.

Getting children to try new dishes can be a challenge, but Paris is optimistic.

"Right now we serve a quarter of a cup of fruits or vegetables. Next year half a cup of fruits or vegetables will be mandatory for lunch," Paris said. "Some kids are picky about vegetables and I don't know how it will go, but at least some try it and they are tasting things they wouldn't normally."

received was not worth the nearly $3,000 the city doled out; and added later that "I don't think he's reliable." He told the council that Carrollton Mayor Gene McMurry was having similar trouble with Graves; Carrollton also had a contract with PoweredOn to provide free WiFi to Carrollton residents.

Brammell suggested the city write a letter telling Graves that "he's in breach of his terms of agreement with the city, that he's not to do any further work, and that we'll be contacting him in the near future to advise him as to what he can pay back or be sued."

For Morgan, the situation was reminiscent of the Campbellsburg Fire Department reconstruction. "We look back and see that things should've been done differently, things should have been checked," he said. "My tongue was wagging, my eyes were all bugged, I was excited. It just didn't work out."

"It might (work out). I'm a little smarter about the whole thing as a result."

FOOD! LIVE MUSIC! FUN! ALL NIGHT LONG! HOPE HAS NO CURFEW

CANCER DOESN'T SLEEP AND NEITHER WILL WE
Sometimes people wonder why we Relay all night long and stay overnight. The Relay For Life event symbolizes the journey of a cancer survivor.

Relay For Life starts at dusk and ends the next morning. The light and darkness of the day and night parallel the physical effects, emotion, and mental state of a cancer patient while undergoing treatment.

Often, Relay begins when the sun is setting, symbolizing the time a person has been diagnosed with cancer. Immediately there is a lot of support. People rally to lend a helping hand, much like the Opening Ceremony at Relay when everyone cheers that first lap for Survivors.

As Survivors start their cancer treatment, it's hard and taxing, just like when the light of day fades into darkness. As midnight comes, teams continue to walk the track, but it gets harder as the walking continues into the 6th and 7th hour and the night gets colder.

This time represents when a cancer patient becomes exhausted, sick, maybe not wanting to go on, possibly wanting to give up. As a Relay participant, you have been walking and feel much the same way. You are tired, want to sleep, you may even want to go home, but you cannot stop or give up.

Around 4 or 5 a.m. symbolizes the coming of the end of treatment for the cancer patient. Things are beginning to look brighter, just like the break of dawn. A sense of hope emerges. The morning light brings on a new day full of life and new beginnings.

For the walkers who are making laps around the track, when the sun begins to peak, there is a strong sense of hope that they too can make it through.

As we make the final lap — as a cancer survivor gets the final clearance from their doctor — we celebrate and cross the finish line together. It wasn't easy; It took a team; It took commitment; It took hope.

From dusk to dawn, Relay symbolizes the journey of a survivor. By walking through the night, teams visibly show their commitment and dedication to making the journey for and with their loved ones.

Relay is an opportunity for all of us to honor cancer survivors and remember those who lost the battle while renewing our commitment to fight back and hope for a cure.

Although you will enjoy fun and fellowship throughout the event, take a moment in your heart to remember the true purpose of Relay For Life: HOPE HAS NO CURFEW.

Cancer Doesn't Sleep in Henry County and Neither Will We.

ACS to recognize volunteers

National Volunteer Week is April 16-21

SUBMITTED

In celebration of the 39th annual National Volunteer Week, the American Cancer Society recognizes and celebrates the efforts of its millions of volunteers nationwide, who make a positive difference for the Society as well as for cancer patients and their families.

"Volunteers are the backbone of the American Cancer Society," said April Harmon, ACS Community [Representative]. "Since our organization's inception in 1913, volunteers have been crucially important in making the American Cancer Society the strongest and most effective voluntary health agency in the world today. As we recognize this special week, I want to thank each of our volunteers here in Henry County for dedicating their time and energy to our cancer-fighting mission. Volunteers impact the community in ways that could not be done without their personal commitment."

More than three million volunteers and supporters across the country help the American Cancer Society in its effort to eliminate cancer as a major public health problem. Volunteers in Henry County contribute to the cancer fight through a variety of roles, efforts and programs, including:

- Relay For Life – More than three million Americans (including 500,000 cancer survivors) participate nationally in the Society's signature overnight community event. Volunteer teams celebrate survivorship, remember those who have lost their battle with cancer and work to raise much-needed funds to fuel the fight against cancer.

- Making Strides Against Breast Cancer – As the Society's premier event to raise funds and awareness to fight breast cancer, 450,000 people across the country participate in this inspiring, non-competitive walk. This event unites communities to honor and celebrate breast cancer survivors, educate women about the importance of early detection and prevention and raise money to fund lifesaving research and support programs to further the progress against breast cancer.

- Reach to Recovery – Specially trained breast cancer survivors nationwide help newly diagnosed breast cancer patients cope with their experience, offering support, up-to-date information and other resources.

- Legislative advocacy – The Society's grassroots volunteer network of 280,000 volunteers successfully works to send strong messages to lawmakers about issues that matter to people touched by cancer.

"I volunteer for the American Cancer Society because cancer has touched everyone in some way [including myself or including a member of my family]," said Tawnja Morris, Henry County Relay For Life Event Chair. "To help others in their fight against cancer is truly humbling. At the same time, I volunteer with the hope and resolve that, one day, we will eliminate cancer as a life-threatening disease for future generations."

The Points of Light Foundation and Volunteer Center National Network sponsor the annual National Volunteer Week, which began in 1974 with an executive order by President Richard Nixon.

The American Cancer Society saves lives and creates more birthdays by helping people stay well, by helping people get well, by finding cures and by fighting back. For more information, contact The American Cancer Society at 1-800-227-2345 or visit us at cancer.org.

While White is not one of the presenters during the Diabetes Education Day, he pointed out that the event is a collaboration of government, local medical services and pharmaceutical companies. "This shows what can happen when all three groups get together and participate together," he said.

For more information about the Diabetes Education Day, please see page A9, and the ad on page A5.

"Diabetes is especially common ... and this part of Kentucky has even more risk for diabetes than surrounding states," he said.

White attributed that to a diet heavy in carbohydrates and a sedentary lifestyle.

Complications from the disease, he said, can be devastating. Heart attacks and strokes for diabetics are "the most devastating," and added that amputations and infections are "just as bad."

NEWSbriefs

Diabetes Education Day is Saturday

On Saturday, April 21, Henry Countians will have the opportunity to learn a little more about a very common disease — diabetes.

Dr. Stephen White, of Henry County Medical Center in New Castle, said that diabetes is particularly common in the south.

2012 Leadership class; More power myths

Congratulations to all of our Chamber award winners pictured last week in the Local.

I also want to share information about our newest Leadership Henry County class. I will be going in detail about them in a future column, but today I want you to know who is learning about our beautiful county: Jill Fallis, director of Homestead Nursing Center; Irene Smith; Helen Moore; Jo Ann Adams, owner of Sweet Home Spun; Joyce Meyer, webmaster; Kelly Dockter, Extension Assistant; Karen Shannon, and Connie Snowden.

Yes, it is a class of all women. I am anxious to see what project to benefit Henry County they will decide to do.

This week we will continue our power myths as I consider this information that is not readily available to the community. I was surprised by the information in this, and I hope you learn that some things are just not true even though we were all taught that they were.

MYTH: CFLs are more harmful for the environment than traditional bulbs because they contain mercury.

FACT: CFLs do contain a trace amount of mercury that can be emitted into the atmosphere if the bulb is broken. However, mercury is also emitted into the atmosphere as a result of electricity generation. Replacing traditional incandescent lights with CFLs will help to reduce mercury plant emissions because CFLs are more efficient and use less electricity. According to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, a typical 60-watt incandescent bulb will result in 5.8 mg of mercury emissions over its lifetime. A comparable CFL bulb will emit only 1.8 mg — even if it ends up in a landfill.

Recycling CFLs will result in even lower mercury emissions. Visit the LG&E Website for more information.

MYTH: Leaving lights, computers and appliances on uses less energy than turning them on and off.

FACT: In most cases, the small surge of power needed to start a device is much less than the power that is wasted by leaving it on when it is not needed.

MYTH: Duct tape is the best choice for sealing ducts.

FACT: Laboratory research reveals duct tape has very low durability when used to seal ducts. On new installations, duct tape will not last long regardless of surface preparation techniques applied. Over time, duct tape will fall off as the adhesive breaks down from exposure to humidity and heat; it becomes dry, brittle and unable to maintain duct integrity. Mastic or metal-backed tapes (available at your local hardware or DIY retailer) are preferred choices for duct sealing, and improved air flow.

MYTH: Purchasing an efficient air-conditioner or furnace will automatically reduce energy bills.

FACT: This is true to an extent, but optimal savings will not be achieved unless the system is sized and installed correctly. Installing an efficient, but over-sized, system may negate much of the potential savings, while a poorly designed duct system will also impact efficiency and comfort. Whole house air sealing, attic and wall insulation, doors and windows play a critical role in correct sizing, heating and cooling efficiency.

MYTH: Dimming lights by 50 percent will cut lighting costs in half.

FACT: In reality, the relationship is not quite direct and the savings may be less than expected. Dimmed lights do use less power, but when lights are dimmed, the voltage drops and the filament becomes cooler. This causes a loss in overall efficiency.

Unemployment down from February 2011

Unemployment rates fell in 111 Kentucky counties between February 2011 and February 2012, while nine county rates increased, according to the Kentucky Office of Employment and Training, an agency of the Kentucky Education and Workforce Development Cabinet.

Woodford County recorded the lowest jobless rate in the Commonwealth at 6.9 percent. It was followed by Fayette County, 7.1 percent; Oldham County, 7.4 percent; Union and Webster counties, 7.7 percent each; Henderson County, 7.8 percent; Daviess County, 7.9 percent; and Franklin, Madison and Ohio counties, 8 percent each.

Fulton County recorded the state's highest unemployment rate — 18.3 percent. It was followed by Menifee County, 17.3 percent; Magoffin County, 16.5 percent; Jackson County, 16.3 percent; McCreary County, 15.2 percent; Bell, Clay and Wolfe counties, 14.7 percent each; Lewis County, 14.3 percent; and Leslie County, 14.2 percent.

Unemployment statistics are based on estimates and are compiled to measure trends rather than actually to count people working. Civilian labor force statistics include non-military workers and unemployed Kentuckians who are actively seeking work. They do not include unemployed Kentuckians who have not looked for employment within the past four weeks. The statistics in this news release are not seasonally adjusted to allow for comparisons between United States, state and county figures.

Kathy Singleton and Stephanie Decker signed on for life when they decided to open All About U salon. Quitting, failing, or retiring isn't an option for them.

The two met at Hair Designs in New Castle, where they worked together for nine years. They talked about exactly how they would want their own place to be, but Decker didn't take Singleton seriously when she suggested they open their own salon.

After buying and gutting the former Henry County Local building at 1378 Eminence Road in November, they worked long nights to get ready for the opening. The salon turned out to be exactly what they wanted.

One unique feature of All About U salon is the playroom for children equipped with toys, comfortable furniture and a television to watch movies on. They offer snacks and drinks for patrons.

The casual atmosphere hums with humored conversation and music. It has the style of a sophisticated salon without a pretentious setting. The design is spacious and elegant.

"We wanted something comfortable, warm and cozy," Decker said. "Whether it is a guy or girl we want to make everyone comfortable."

The salon has had a diverse group of men, women and children for clientele.

"We had a truck driver that drove by here on his route from Milton to Harrisburg," Singleton said. "He had been watching us remodel and stopped here to get a haircut and his beard trimmed. Where else could you park a semi?"

When they had the salon's phone connected, it didn't stop ringing. Decker arranged appointments for three hours. On the first day of business, the unlikely partners serviced 28 patrons.

"Most people wouldn't put us together as partners," Singleton said. "Stephanie is better with the books and she is more organized." Singleton never thought of starting a business at 54. She sustained an injury on a farm she once owned in Campbellsburg and needed to make a career change from home health care. She prayed before going to sleep and credits God for giving her direction.

"The good part of being a stylist is making someone look better," Singleton said. "It changes their outlook on how they feel and it raises their self-esteem."

Decker, 37, said cosmetology just seemed like a natural choice for her.

"I am the slave driver," Decker said. "I am always saying we can do another hour of work. I bargain shop to get good products in here for customers and their experience is therapeutic."

The salon offers services for men, women and children. Along with stylist Ashley Quickert and Kim Melton, the stylists come from different schools of cosmetology and offer different techniques.

"We offer cuts, waxing, facials and eventually we will do manicures," Decker said. "We want people to feel good about coming in here and getting a bigger salon experience that they wouldn't get in a small town."

The salon will host a cut-a-thon for Relay for Life on Sunday, June 3 from 1-5p.m. The salon is open Monday through Friday 9 a.m. with evening hours available and Saturday 9a.m. to 3 p.m.

Host families needed for exchange program

This summer, 15 young people from Japan and an adult chaperone will come to Kentucky to learn about American families and culture. A great way for you and your child to take part in this international experience is by becoming a host family for one of these students.

Not only do 4-H host families get to enjoy helping the Japanese 4-H'er learn about American families and culture, but they also learn about Japanese culture, customs and history. Many times, lifetime bonds are created.

The Japanese young people are from the 4-H Language Laboratory or LABO program and are between the ages of 12 and 15. These young people want to experience the life of an average American family. They will spend July 22 through Aug. 18 in Kentucky. Hosts must pick up their new sibling July 22 in Louisville and return them Aug 18 to the same location.

There is no cost or language requirement to become a host family, but families should have a child that is of similar age and gender as the international 4-H'er. Kentucky 4-H is especially looking for host families for boys, as there are several of them to place. Host parents should provide for the Japanese 4-H'er in the same way as for their own children. International 4-H'ers should have their own area and bed, but can share a room with their host sibling.

Host families are encouraged not to plan extravagant trips or deviate from their normal routines. The Japanese youth bring their own spending money for any extras they may want to purchase.

Since the program focuses on American culture, Japanese 4-H'ers will not be placed in homes of families with the same cultural background. While in the United States, the international 4-H'ers and their host families can participate in 4-H programs at any level in which they are comfortable. The family, however, does not need to be 4-H members, and 4-H participation is not required.

If you do not have a child but would like to participate in the program, you can become a host for the chaperone. The chaperone has good English-speaking skills and will stay with a host family for either a two- or four-week period. The chaperone's main objective is to help with communication and facilitate problems any of the Japanese young people may have.

If you are interested in becoming a host family or receiving more information on international opportunities through 4-H, contact Mark Mains, 4-H International Program coordinator, at 859-257-5961, ext. 231, or mark.mains@uky.edu. Requesting information does not obligate families to host students this year. Biographies of the Japanese young people can be obtained after an application for hosting is submitted and approved.

More information on 4-H International programs can be found at the Henry County Cooperative Extension Service and on the Kentucky 4-H International Exchange Program website www.kentucky4h.org/internationalexchange.

Tips for spring calvers

- Continue to feed cows that have calved on an adequate nutritional plan to rebreed. Increase their feed after calving. Don't let them lose body condition.

- Purchase replacement bulls at least 30 days prior to the start of the breeding season. Have herd bulls evaluated for breeding soundness (10-20 percent of bulls are questionable or unsatisfactory breeders).

- Start breeding heifers one heat cycle before cows so that they have extra time to recover from calving next year.

- Get everything ready to make high quality hay as soon as possible! Have equipment serviced and spare parts on hand. Be prepared to harvest an adequate supply of hay when you have the opportunity.

- Plan now for fly control ... decide what fly control program that you will use but don't put insecticide ear tags on cattle until fly population appears.

- Make plans to improve hay feeding areas to avoid muddy conditions like we have faced this winter. Consider geotextile fabric with gravel.

Henry County Extension Office. Cattleman Russell Hackley will be our featured speaker, with his story about his transition in the cattle business from cow-calf and lots of machinery to a stocker and managed grazing program. Hackley has been a dedicated leader in the Kentucky Cattleman's Association and the Forage and Grassland Council. We'll also have our veterinarians report, along with FSA, FFA, Extension and Phase I updates. Another good beef supper is on the agenda. Please contact the Henry County Extension Office at 845-2811 to register.

Tobacco greenhouse news

Over the past two weeks, Dr. Ken Seebold has seen a big spike in the number of statewide calls regarding Rhizoctonia damping-off. The problem so far appears to be most significant where older Styrofoam trays are being used. Damping-off tends to appear suddenly, and then run its course; however, this disease is an indicator of target spot problems after clipping begins. Growers who find damping-off on younger plants should manage float beds carefully to avoid outbreaks of target spot in the coming weeks. Provide good ventilation, apply a mancozeb fungicide after plants have reached the size of a dime and continue on a five to seven day schedule until the first or second clipping, and keep nitrogen levels at or around 100 ppm for as long as practical – target spot can be severe when levels drop too low.

Meet Laura

Laura (12/1/98) is a very loving and sweet child who usually wants to please adults. She needs a lot of positive praise and encouragement. She thrives on attention. She gets attached to those caregivers who show her love and attention very easily. Laura would like to be a nurse when she grows up; however, she will need ongoing help with school. Her favorite subject in school right now is math. She likes dogs, playing Wii, reading about Dora the Explorer, and playing with dolls in her room. Laura likes living in the country. She should be the youngest child or only in her family. Also, Laura will have ongoing contact with her birth relatives. Could you give this wonderful, loving child the permanent family she needs?

HCHS CROSS COUNTRY

Fischer signs to run for Asbury College

BY BRAD BOWMAN
Reporter/Photographer

Henry County High School senior Cassey Fischer, of Campbellsburg, signed an agreement with Asbury University Tuesday, April 10 to run for their cross-country program.

Fischer holds a school record of 20:27 for 3.1 miles. She accepted the four-year scholarship offer from the Christian university because of its campus culture.

"I like the spiritual aspect of it," Fischer said. "It's a good place spiritually and academically."

Fischer qualified for state competitions beginning in the seventh, eighth, 10th and 11th grade. Cross-country coach Greg Woods will miss her experience and natural leadership skills.

"I am fortunate enough to have a good staff including Cassey," Woods said. "She helped me get other students ready for competition by her experience and leadership."

Woods remembers seeing Fischer as a seventh grader and knew the potential was there.

"She always set difficult goals and she was able to achieve them. Once every blue moon do you have a student like this with this level of competitiveness," Woods said.

Fischer's parents Christy and Jason Fischer attended the signing. Both were excited about her achievements, but her mother was nervous at first about her going away to college.

"She has two cousins living nearby, it's just hard letting go of your baby," Christy Fischer said. "She worked so hard and I have

Lady Cats power past Owen, 15-6

After strong effort, team struggles through rest of week

BY GREG WOODS
For the Local

Early in their game against Owen County on April 10, the Henry County Lady Cats found themselves in a hole.

The Lady Cats scored a run to open the game, but Owen County struck back with five runs in their half of the first inning.

But the Lady Cats came back, adding two runs each in the second and third innings. The Rebels briefly took the lead again in the bottom of the third inning, but the Lady Cats negated that, scoring 10 more runs the rest of the game, to take the 15-6 win.

It was one of the Lady Cats' best offensive showings of the year, as they scored in every inning except the seventh. Henry County banged out 15 hits for the game, with at least one each from eight of their nine batters.

In fact, seven Lady Cats had multi-hit games. Krista Deburger and MacKenzie Clifford led the way with three hits each. Aly Stanley, Ally Vaughn and Amanda Wilson led the team with three RBI's each, and Stanley also scored three runs, along with Samantha Head.

Coach Jon Kasten was excited by the team's effort, especially the batters in the lower part of the order.

good game out in the field as well."

HCHS 1, Carroll County 9

After the pride producing comeback at Owen County, Henry faced Carroll County for the second time this season on April 12. The Lady Cats won that first meeting, 6-2, but this game was a different story. The host Panthers jumped on Henry County in the first inning for two runs and didn't let up from there.

The Cats got their lone run in the fifth inning as Stanley led off with a triple; she scored on a single by Olivia Whaley. Henry County had eight hits for the game but stranded all their base runners except for Stanley.

The Panthers added two runs in the third, four in the fifth and one in the sixth to cap the 8 run victory. Henry County had

Eminence coach disappointed with 2-run, 9-error outing

BY GREG WOODS
For the Local

When the Eminence Warriors took the field at Henry County last week, the game started nearly perfect.

Brandon Mitchell, leading off, hit the game's first pitch out of the park for a home run. Unfortunately for the Warriors, that was the game's lone highlight.

Eminence got two more runners on in the inning but failed to push across another run.

Austyn Sailings opened the scoring for Henry County in the bottom of the first when he walked to first, stole second, stole third and then advanced home when the throw to third was off the mark.

Eminence threatened again in the second, getting two runners on with one out. But then Aaron McClish came on in relief for the Cats and got the final two outs of the inning to keep the Warriors from scoring.

The Cats picked up three more runs to go up 4-1 in the second. The Cats had just one hit and a walk but took advantage of three Eminence errors. Sailings, Jake Hartlage and James Pollard scored the runs for the Cats.

The game got away from the Warriors in the bottom of the third as Henry County erupted for six runs on three hits, a hit batter and four Eminence errors. Jordan Adams and James Pollard got the big hits of the inning, as both doubled with runners in scoring position. After three innings Henry County was ahead 10-1.

Eminence got their second run of the game in the fourth inning as Brandon Lane scored their final run of the game. But Henry County scored three more runs, putting them up 13-2 going into the fifth inning.

In the fifth Eminence needed to score at least two runs to keep the contest going, but McClish retired the side in order.

Eminence digs deep, finds confidence in Gallatin win

BY JONNA SPELBRING PRIESTER
Publisher

With a 2-5 record, the start of the Eminence Warriors baseball season has been a little lackluster.

But Warriors' head coach Mark Payton sees glimmers of hope ahead.

"I think our pitching and our defense are our strengths right now," he said. "What needs to improve is our competitiveness and our focus."

Against Gallatin County on Thursday, April 12, the Warriors seemed to lose that focus, if just for a moment before going on to win their first Class A tournament game, 8-7.

The first two innings were scoreless for both teams. In the third, Eminence got the jump on Gallatin, with runs scored by Brandon and Justin Mitchell.

But then, in the top of the fourth inning, Gallatin knocked in four runs. Payton said he saw his players heads hanging. "I called our guys to the dugout and I said look, you're not going to quit on me here," he said. "We can beat this team. Then they came in and we scored our (four) runs in the bottom of the fourth, and that's when we took the lead."

In the fourth, Cole Lawson, Brandon Lane, Travis Bell and Brandon Mitchell all scored. In the sixth inning, Todd Adams rounded the bases.

"They smelled that blood and took it. It was just one of those things where they knew they could compete, and they felt that little wind that they could win."

In the game, the Warriors batted a season-best .346, and had two errors. It was a relief after what Payton indicated was a disastrous performance against Henry County with nine errors.

Coach Austin Hunsaker praised the reliever after the game. “McClish came on in the second inning and shut them down because they had momentum,” Hunsaker said. Hunsaker also praised Sailings, who got on base and scored four times.

The coach was pleased with his team’s effort. “It is a good win anytime you play a county rival and win,” he said. “We took advantage of their mistakes and we hit the ball better than we had been. The seniors really stepped up and contributed to the win.”

Eminence coach Mark Payton was disappointed with his team’s effort. “We kicked the ball around all over the place,” he said.

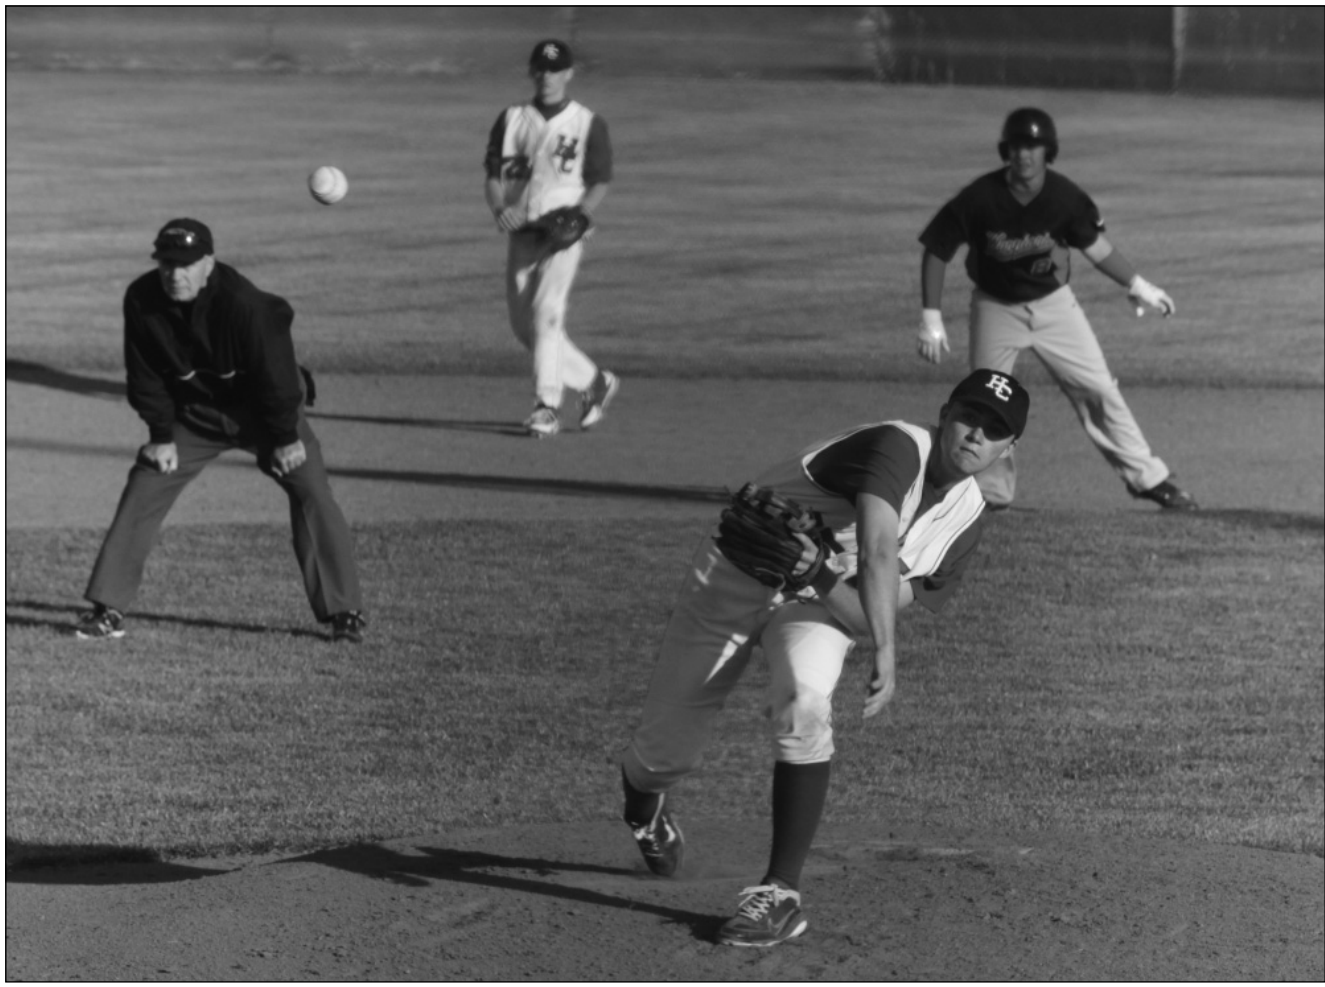

“We average about two errors a game and we made nine in this game. We didn’t play like ourselves at all. We hit the ball well but couldn’t get any runners across. We left nine runners on base and seven of those were in scoring position. It may have to do with the fact that we are so young. We started five freshmen. After McClish came in and shut us down in the second, we seemed to shut down mentally the rest of the game.”

HCHS 3, Franklin County 13

Coming off of back-to-back victories, the Wildcats hoped to get on a roll, but the hot hitting Franklin County Flyers had other ideas on April 10.

After a scoreless first inning for the Cats, Franklin County broke out of the gates with six runs on six hits — including two triples and a double — and a walk in the inning.

The Cats cut into the home team’s lead in the second inning when Jared Payton scored on a single by Seth Williams. The Cats held Franklin County scoreless in the bottom of the second which left the score 6-1.

JONNA SPELBRING PRIESTER/LOCAL

Henry County’s Aaron McClish delivers a pitch against Eminence on April 10 while Eminence’s Todd Adams leads off of second base. Below, Travis Bell waits to make the tag at second against Henry County’s Stephen Archer.

In the bottom of the third the Flyers struck again with four runs on five hits, including another double and two more triples. The shell-shocked Cats were unable to score in their half of the inning.

Going into the fifth inning the score remained 10-1. The Cats tried to claw their way back into the game. They scored a run in the fifth on singles by Jordan Adams and Hartlage and a Franklin County error; and scored another run in the sixth. The Cats final run came after a triple by Hayden Hughes, who then scored when Adams was safe on an error at first. After 5.5 innings Franklin County was up 10-3. In the bottom half of the sixth Franklin County ended the Cats’ hopes of a big comeback, pushing across three more runs for the 10-run, game ending margin.

Hunsaker was impressed by the Flyers. “That day they were way better than us offensively and they just are a real solid team,” he said. “We couldn’t get anything going offensively to counter their offense.”

HCHS 3, Collins 8

When Henry County

played Collins the first time this season, the Cats lost 12-4. That game, according to Hunsaker, was one of the team’s worst performances of the season.

The Cats fell to the Titans again last week, but Hunsaker felt better about this performance. “Overall it was one of our best games of the year,” he said. “We had a base running and a pitching mistake but other than that we played our best game.”

The game was in the balance in the seventh inning as the Cats loaded the bases with two outs. Collins got out of the jam and went on to win the game by five runs.

The Wildcats started the game brightly, with three runs in the top of the first. Hartlage hit a single, McClish reached first on an error, and Payton was hit by a pitch to load the bases. Hughes and Adams then had back-to-back singles score the three base runners.

Collins broke out for five runs in the second inning, stringing together four base hits including a double and a triple. After two innings, Collins was up 5-3.

Collins scored three more runs in the fourth, on a double, a triple, a single and two walks. After the fourth inning the score would remain the same for the rest of the game, but there was the drama of the seventh inning when the Cats loaded the bases and nearly pulled off the big comeback.

The inning started inauspiciously as the first batter for the Cats struck out. Stephen Archer then singled to start the rally. Sailings followed with a walk. Hartlage then hit into a fielder’s choice as Archer was put out at third. McClish walked to load the bases with two outs, but the rally ended as the Titans struck out the last batter.

Williamstown

Saturday’s game with Williamstown was rained out and will not be made up. It did give the coaches an opportunity to reflect on the season so far as they sat in the dugout Saturday morning watching the rain-drops wash out the game.

“Our inability to advance runners with less than two outs and our inability to get big hits with runners in scoring position has hurt us all season,” Assistant Coach Zak Yates said. “We’ve got to start getting some clutch hits. We’ve played a tough schedule and we hope that prepares us for the district tournament.”

loved every minute of it.”

Cassey’s ability is not lost on Randy Crist, the cross-country coach for Asbury University. Crist looks at results from meets across the state and sent a letter to Woods for recruitment.

“She will be in a five girl squad that are running the same times and that are on the same level as her,” Crist said. “She is an ideal fit. Some kids want the bigger school experience. We have about 1,400 students and it is an extended family setting.”

Crist stressed the school is a Christian university where students and staff attend chapel services together.

“You get to know people in your class and the experience is not just about classes and athletics. She is what we look for. I could tell after our phone interview that she is a nice Christian girl from a supportive Christian family and she has the ability to do well in the sport.”

EMINENCE

“We threw that game behind us, started from scratch,” he said.

Trevor Payton started on the mound in the game, and was relieved by Brandon Mitchell in the fifth.

Mark Payton said the dugout conference was the turning point. “They were ready to quit, they were ready to let down, I could see it in their faces,” he said. “I was like, you’re not going to do it this time. They got pride back into them. The key word that game was focus.”

Payton said Trevor Payton, Brandon Mitchell and Zack Whitmer all stood out. Trevor Payton, in addition to pitching the first four innings, hit a ground-rule double on his way to a .500 night. Mitchell batted .400, and Whitmer batted .500. “We hit the heck out of the ball,” Mark Payton said.

EHS 0, Pendleton

County 7; EHS 0, Pendleton County 14

For Payton, this double-header was the story of two teams. In the first game of the set, the Warriors played well, while in the second game, “we didn’t play worth a nickle.”

In the first game, the Warriors held close to Pendleton County, playing their hosts 0-0 into the sixth inning. Then, in the sixth, Trevor Payton gave up one run; and in the seventh the Warriors coughed up 6 runs and 3 errors. In the game, Todd Adams was 2-for-3 at the plate, and Austin Jones, Justin Mitchell and Trevor Payton each were 1-for-3.

In the second game, the Warriors simply fell apart. “It was like one of those Henry County games,” Payton said. “It was just a lapse that we kicked the ball around again and threw the ball all over the place.”

The coach blamed a lack of focus.

“To start the season, it was like, oh well, I made another mistake, and we can’t do that,” he said. “In batting practice, it was like I made a mistake, give me another one. But in game time, you can’t do that.”

EHS 4, Portland Christian 1

Brandon Mitchell delivered a strong, steady performance against Portland Christian on April 5, pitching a full seven-inning game, though he didn’t have a good day at the plate.

“Brandon Mitchell is a gutty performer,” Payton said. “He is all in. He’ll give all he has to win a ball game. He’s a competitor, one of those guys you want to have on your team.”

JONNA SPELBRING PRIESTER/LOCAL

As a whole, the team struggled a bit at the plate: Adams, Justin Mitchell and Travis Bell each were 1-for-3, and Corey Roberts was 1-for-1. On the night, the team committed just one error.

EHS 2, Frankfort 12

A lack of base hits left nine runners on base against Frankfort on March 29.

“We did not have any timely hitting that game,” Payton said. Cole Lawson pitched the entire six-inning game, in which Payton said the hosts simply hit the ball well. Justin Mitchell, Zack Whitmer and Lane each had a hit.

EHS 0, Trimble County 15

The season opener against Trimble County was, Payton said, “the jittery game.”

Brandon Mitchell pitched the game in which the Warriors, Payton said, didn’t hit the ball. “But (Trimble County) knocked the cover off of it,” he said.

Payton said he looks forward to playing the Raiders again. “We kicked the ball around, threw it over bases,” he said. “We were doing stuff like Little League.”

“There’s no way that team should have beat us 15-0, but we’ve got them again. We’re getting better. (the team) saw that they can play after they beat Gallatin County.”

LADY CATS

five errors in the game. For Kasten the pride he felt for his team's fight back against Owen County disappeared in what he termed the team's "worst game of the season."

"The Carroll game was not something I even want to think about, but we didn't show up to play," he said. "We couldn't make any adjustments to the pitcher and kept swinging way ahead of her all night. Most of our hits were weak ground balls because we were hitting off the end of the bat. We need to do a better job of learning from our previous at-bats and learning from each other."

"Defensively, we made errors, weren't ready for the ball to come our way, and let the ball play us instead of us playing the ball. Not to take anything away from Carroll, who played aggressively all night and really brought it right at us from the first inning. I thought that this was our worst game of the year so far and hopefully will be the worst game we play all year."

HCHS 1, Woodford County 6

Friday, the Lady Cats traveled to Frankfort to play in the Capitol City Showcase against Woodford County. The Lady Cats got off to good start but couldn't find enough offense to pull out the victory.

Stanley led off the game by reaching base on an error. Paige Deburger also reached base on an error. Ally Vaughn then scored Stanley as she also reached base on an error.

The Cats were in a promising position with one run scored and two runners on base, but Deburger was picked off at third. After a line out by Krista Deburger, Amanda Wilson stuck out to end the threat. It was a promising start for the Lady Cats but Woodford County tightened up the defense and Henry County had just two hits the rest of the game.

Woodford County scored two runs in their half of the first and went on to score three in the second and one in the fifth to take the a five run victory. After the three errors in the first inning, Woodford played flawlessly in the field the rest of the way.

"I thought that we started the game off on a better note by putting the ball in play," Kasten said. "I thought we played better than against Carroll Co."

HCHS 3, Bourbon County 10

On the first half of the Saturday game schedule, the Lady Cats faced Bourbon County.

Henry County led this game for three innings before Bourbon County erupted for an eight-run fourth inning.

Paige Deburger was brought home in the first inning on a double by Vaughn, who was then brought home with a double by Krista Deburger. Vaughn lead off in the third inning, and advanced on an error by the second basemen. She scored after a successful suicide squeeze by Amanda Wilson. Vaughn had a big day at the plate going 3-for-3.

But then the Bourbon County bats warmed up, and they got four consecutive singles before the first out was recorded. Two more singles and a Henry County error followed, and Woodford drilled a base-clearing triple to go up 8-3. Bourbon closed out the scoring with two runs on a double, a single and another double before the game because of the time limit.

"Saturday morning, through three innings, we looked about as good as we have all year," Kasten said. "Our pitching and defense looked really good..."

"Krista kept the ball down and stayed ahead in the count the entire time. When balls were hit, our defense made some good plays behind her and I thought we were rolling through their lineup pretty good. In the fourth, (Woodford) put a couple of hits together and we began to fall apart."

in the day, Henry County was steamrolled by Butler in five innings. Butler pounded out 15 hits for the game and was helped by five Henry County errors. The Lady Cats managed just two hits for the game as they came away with an 0-3 record for the tournament.

"We never had a chance in this game from the beginning," Kasten said. "We were still thinking about how we let the Bourbon County game slip through our hands. They hit a lot of balls that found their way into holes or blooped into the outfield. They scored 11 in the third inning on a home run, and several bloop shots with the bases loaded, that I feel we would have caught if we weren't playing in to try and get the out at home."

"Basically, if it could go wrong in this game, it did."

Warriors pull out 4-3 win over LCA

BY JONNA SPELBRING PRIESTER
Publisher

In previous seasons, it might not have turned out this way.

Thursday afternoon, the Eminence Warriors pulled out a 4-3 win against Lexington Christian Academy.

"We didn't play particularly well, but we still found a way to win," head coach Bill Covington said.

The team lacked focus, Covington said, striking out nine times in the game — the poorest batting performance of the season. "We have not done that the entire year, even against some decent pitchers," he said.

But the team found a way to win, something Covington said is a sign that the team is growing.

Marissa Puckett picked up a critical RBI — knocking in the game winning run, while Savannah Mertz got an RBI with the game-tying run.

Kelsie Craigmyle doubled in the win that Covington had little to say about. "We were able to overcome some things and win," he said.

During the game, the team showed more confidence than they have in some time, something Covington did note. "The attitude is the best since I've been here," he said. "They're encouraging each other, and they're not getting down on themselves (or) their teammates. That was a real issue two years ago... Those days are gone."

EHS 0, Bethlehem 4

Heading into the bottom of the sixth, Covington said this game was solid, except for the batting.

"We just didn't hit the ball," he said. "We played really good defense, and Bethlehem's not a bad team."

Craigmyle had two hits in the game, while Chelsea Woods, Dees and Emily each had one hit.

Youngest members shine for Cats' track team

BY GREG WOODS
For the Local

In their latest venture, a home meet on Tuesday April 10, some of the Henry County High School track team's youngest members roared the loudest.

Freshmen Destany Crawford and Jesse Mann got 1st place finishes in the 100-meter hurdles and pole vault, respectively, to lead the team.

Crawford set a personal record of 18.04 in the 100 hurdles as she finished a full second ahead of the second place finisher from Frankfort. Crawford also had a fourth place in the 300-meter hurdles and a 3rd place finish in the long jump, with a season best jump of 12 feet, 7 inches.

Eighth-grader Teagan Fish also set a personal record in the 100-meter dash with a time of 14.24, which gave her a third place finish. Fish also placed third in the 200 meter dash and 2nd in the 400-meter dash.

Mann and teammate

Eddie Jones, a sophomore, both went 9 feet in the pole vault but Mann was the winner because he made the height on one less attempt than Jones. Jones tied his personal record set last week at the North Hardin Invitational. Freshman Jared Yount was third in the event with a vault of 7 feet, 6 inches.

Mann also got 4th in the 800 meters, going under 2:20 for the second meet in a row with a time of 2:19. "Jesse's pole vault was impressive but breaking below 2:20 these last two meets may break a barrier that allows him to continue dropping his time," coach Sed Williams said.

Freshman Morgan Miller also had a big day with a first place finish in the 800-meter run that was just .28 seconds off her personal record. Miller finished in 2:50. She also equaled her personal best in the pole vault, but came in second because she had more misses than her only opponent, Kirsten Arvin of Carroll County, with a vault of 5 feet, 6 inches. Miller had a fifth place finish in the 400-meter dash, and combined with Fish, Cathryn Fischer and Shelby Johnson to record a second place finish in the 4x400 relay.

Other girls scoring for the Cats included:

6th grader Sydney Amyx who finished 2nd in the 1600-meter run with a time of 7:25. Amyx also set a personal record in the 800-meter run with a time of 3:26, finishing 7th.

Cathryn Fischer took third in the 300-meter hurdles with a time of 60.8 seconds and 2nd in the long jump with a leap of 13 feet.

Haley Lewis finished 4th in the shot put at 25 feet, 5 inches and 2nd in the discus with a throw of 70 feet, 3 inches.

Tierra Allison finished 5th in the discus at 63 feet, 7 inches.

Nona Cline set a personal record in the 100-meter dash but did not score. Her time was 16.6 seconds.

McKenzie Moore had a personal best in the shot put at 17 feet.

On the boys side tenth grader Blake Isaacs equaled his personal best in the 100-meter dash with a time of 12.44 which was good for second place. Mason Fish was fourth in the same race also with a time of 12.44. Freshman Coleton Aneszko also had a personal best in the 100 meter race.

In the 200-meter dash, several young Cats set personal records. Fish was fourth in 26.04, Cameron Johnson ran a 27.94, Brandon Dixie ran a 28.24 and Levi Adams had a time of 28.44. Johnson is an eighth grader while the other three are freshmen.

In the longer races, sophomore Ethan Smith set a personal record with a time of 3:09 in the 800-meter run; sophomore Austin Hartsell had a personal record of 5:38 in the 1600, and junior Jesus Ramos finished 4th in 3200-meter run with a near personal best of 11:53.7.

In the relay races Henry County, finished third in the 4x100, third in the 4x200, 2nd in the 4x400, and 2nd in the 4x800.

In the field events, John Allgeier finished third in the high jump with a personal record of 5 feet, 8 inches. Blake Isaacs was fourth at 5 feet, 6 inches and Austin Armstrong was fifth at 5 feet, four inches.

In the long jump Isaacs finished second with a leap of 17 feet, 7 inches and Mason Fish was 4th with a personal best jump of 16 feet, 8 inches. In the triple jump, Johnson placed fourth with a leap of 32 feet, 8 inches.

In the boys shot put Christian Cravens placed second with a distance of 37 feet and Jacob Yount finished fifth at 33 feet, 6 inches.

In the discus, Austin Armstrong was 2nd with a throw of 98 feet, 11 inches; Cravens was third at 96 feet, 2 inches; and Giovanni Rivera set a personal record of 71 feet, 6 inches but failed to score points.

Meade County won the girls' team results with a score of 78 points, Henry County tied Frankfort for second with 54 points, Carroll County was fourth with 31 points and Owen County was fifth with 28 points.

Meade County was also victorious in the boys' rankings with 96 points. Owen County was second with 81.5 points, Henry County was third with 63 points, Carroll County was fourth with 15 points, Eminence was fifth with 7.5 points and Frankfort was sixth with 7 points.

It was a promising day for the younger Cats but Williams was not pleased with the teams' overall performance. "The younger kids are showing improvement weekly," he said. "I'm very proud of their effort. Overall, I was not as happy with this meet. We did not continue to make the strides that we had been making."
